TEQVOLY

Teqvoly is a perfect leisure activity for every sport enthusiasts, and also, it can be an excellent complementary exercise for professional volleyball players. The rules have been designed to make the rallies more exciting and enjoyable both for the players and the spectators as well. It improves ball concentration, reaction time and precision. Our main goal with this innovative sport is to create global awareness, promote the sport for professional and amateur players alike and implement teqvoly into the everyday practice of volleyball players.

QATCH

Qatch is originated from handball and is perfectly suitable for professional athletes as well as amateur enthusiasts whose ambition is to develop both their attacking and defending skills. In this physically challenging game, two teams of three players throw the ball back and forth to each other in an intense manner. What makes this new and innovative sporting activity stand out, is that two players from the same team (the attackers) are at the same end of the table, while the third player (the defender) is at the opposite end among their opponents. Teamwork, feelings and experiences, freedom of creativity and quick decisions.

TEQPONG

Teqpong is another form of an innovative racket sport. The curved teq table makes the game even more enjoyable by creating various types of bounces whereby angles need to be recalculated and your reactions will be tested. Teqpong is an excellent way to spend time for both professional athletes and those who are looking for a recreational hobby, regardless of age, gender, or level of skills.

TEQIS

Teqis is an innovative racket sport. Besides its enjoyable and fun elements, it develops and demands competencies from the players such as focus, quick reaction, and technical precision, since the ball bounces differently because of the curved shape of the Teq table. Teqis can be played indoors and outdoors as well on many different surfaces, like clay, hard court, grass, carpet, or sand, which make teqis even more enjoyable and give the players more challenges.

PARA TEQSPORTS

Para teqball and para teqsports are para sports activities that can be played on the multifunctional sports equipment, the Teq table, which is a 100% Hungarian innovation. They have been developed for people with disabilities: para teqball and para teqvoly are for athletes with limb deficiencies, while para teqis and para teqpong can be played by wheelchair-user athletes. All of them can be played and enjoyed by players at all levels, regardless of age or gender. The inclusive categories make para teqball and para teqsports even more unique in the world of para sports, as non-disabled and disabled people can play together without any discrimination or disadvantage. Our goal is to embrace and spread all the values para sports represent: determination, courage, inspiration, equality.
